

Society Brand Clothes

--at the hallowe'en party clothes will count

—we mean not merely the suit but the shirt, the collar, the tie—yes, the shoes and hose as well.

—care in dress always counts.

—you will find that we cater to those who care—down to the last detail—about their appearance.

—we can sell you a wardrobe from shoes up to the last finishing touch.

STYLE HEADQUARTERS

Where Society Brand Clothes are sold

Altiart Music to Be in Manning's Hands

Prof. William H. Manning, director of the Weber Normal college school of music, has been selected as general director of music of the Altiart society succeeding Lester Hinchcliff.

As his assistant, Prof. Manning has appointed Marcellus Smith, musical director of "The Three Twins," the musical comedy to be staged in Ogden by the Altiart society and the American Legion.

Prof. Manning will reorganize the musical department of the society and intends to prepare a number of oratorios and concerts this winter.

Mr. Smith will immediately take charge of the society's orchestra, and assisted by Miss Mary Fisher, plans to recruit an organization that will develop into the leading orchestra of the city.

Musical talent of the Altiart society will be employed in the production of "The Three Twins."

Says California Has Great Gridiron Team

"That the University of California has one of the greatest grid machines in the history of western football was the word brought to Ogden by V. A. West, athletic director of the University of Utah who was one of the Uthas to make the trip to the coast with the Utah team last week.

He arrived in Ogden shortly after 9 o'clock today from the coast and departed for Salt Lake two hours later. He stated while here that the California national speakers' bureau, in all departments of the game from the first period until the final whistle.

"In my opinion California has one of the greatest aggregations in the country," said West, today, "and unless I miss my guess they will trim the east has to offer at Pasadena New Year's day."

IDAHO SENATOR STARTS ON CONNECTICUT TOUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, after a conference here today with the director of the eastern division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will leave for Meriden, Conn., where he speaks tonight. Other speaking dates for Senator Borah include New Britain, Conn., tomorrow night; Bridgeport, Conn., Thursday night; and Cumberland, Md., Friday night.

REPUBLICAN PASTOR URGES DEFEAT OF SENATOR SMOOT; ENDORSES M. H. WELLING

Declaring unequivocally for the election of Milton H. Welling, Democratic candidate for United States senator, as opposed to Reed Smoot, Republican incumbent, the Rev. Christian R. Garver, pastor of the First Methodist church and prominent Republican, requested members of his congregation in a sermon last Sunday morning to help defeat the senator because of his known friendship for the liquor interests.

The pronouncement by the Republican minister with regard to the defeat of Senator Smoot and also his endorsement of Welling, the Democratic candidate, was made in a sermon dealing with the enforcement of law and the upholding of righteousness. The Rev. Garver also expressed a firm stand in favor of the covenant of the league of nations.

Concerning the present political campaign, he said:

"We are now approaching another presidential election. On the national matters and on national candidates I have no recommendations to make. It is largely a matter of choice.

"With regard to the candidates for United States senator I am particularly interested in the election of Milton H. Welling, the Democratic candidate, whose record on the great moral questions has always been right. And his record on the question of national

AGED MOTHER HUNTS FOR SON

Mrs. M. B. Anderson in Ogden On Countrywide Search For Missing Soldier

Mrs. M. B. Anderson arrived in Ogden today, back tracking on a countrywide search for her son, Joe Anderson, a former soldier who has been missing for about a year.

Joe Anderson was wounded in France while a member of K company, 129th Infantry. About a year ago, while Mrs. Anderson was living in Ogden, her son came to visit her on a 30-day furlough. From here he went to Texas and was sent to a hospital at Aurora, Colo. He remained at the hospital for a short time and one day was reported missing.

Mrs. Anderson has had trace of him since only once. That was at a sugar factory in Colorado where the boy worked for a short time.

Joe enlisted when he was 16 years old. A brother, Kenneth Anderson, a lieutenant, was killed in France.

Working her way from town to town, Mrs. Anderson has visited hundreds of out-of-the-way places. She is past sixty years old, but despite her age, she is active and says she is determined to continue her search until she locates her son, or receives definite word that he is dead.

"If I only knew he was dead, I could rest content," she said this morning, "but he was sick when he left the hospital and even now he may be in some hospital or he may have died somewhere and now lies buried in some unidentified grave. Joe was suffering from shell shock and an unhealed wound through the left shoulder. He was only 16 when he enlisted and I tried unsuccessfully to have him released."

Mrs. Anderson left Ogden last January on her search. She has traveled throughout the middle states, the northern states and along the Pacific coast. In California, Mrs. Anderson said, the authorities allowed her to visit every insane asylum in the state, but she found no trace of him.

She did locate one Joe Anderson, she said, at Port Leavenworth, but he was from Vermont, and it was through her search that she got him in touch with his parents, who had long given him up for dead.

Mrs. Anderson's present home is at Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

ANOTHER BABE FOUND ON STEPS

Browns Will Keep Third Infant Left By Unknown Mother

For the third time within a year, a founding has been left on the doorstep of the Jesse A. Brown residence, 2215 Madison avenue. The third youngster to be abandoned by its parents at the Brown home, was found at 8 o'clock Sunday morning by Mrs. Brown. The baby was apparently three or four hours old, a perfectly developed boy.

Mrs. Brown has kept all of the babies left with her. When asked this morning if she intended keeping the latest arrival, she said, "My husband wouldn't think of parting with it, and although it means a lot of work for me, I couldn't bear to turn the poor little thing out."

The first baby was left at the Brown home in March. It was adopted by Mrs. Brown and has developed into a fine healthy youngster, weighing 25 pounds at present. The second one, abandoned by its parents in July, weighed but three and a half pounds. It died shortly after its arrival at the Brown home.

The baby left Sunday is a wonderful specimen of babyhood and apparently is in the best of health.

Mrs. Brown, in addition to her adopted children, has an 18-year-old son, who is at present a member of the Ogden high school football squad.

POLICE LOCATE STOLEN MONEY

Arrest of Two Boys Leads to Recovery of William Longcor's Valuables

Recovery of $60.25, a cashier's check for $61.22, and two revolvers, purchased with stolen money, was accomplished by Detectives Walter Moore and W. A. Taylor of the Ogden police department last night. William Longcor, 2268 Eccles avenue, reported the theft of the money and the check at the police station yesterday morning. Burglars had removed his trousers from his room, he said, and had taken the money and the check and abandoned the trousers, containing a valuable watch and chain, at the rear of the house.

Walter Dalley, nephew of Longcor, was arrested on a grand larceny charge in connection with the robbery and was turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Virgil Edson, another youth, was implicated in the affair, the officer's assertion.

The two boys entered Longcor's room and took his pants, they told the police, it is said. They then hid the money near the Thirteenth ward meeting house until yesterday morning. Recovering the money, they went to a local sporting goods store and purchased two cheap revolvers and cartridges. Two shows, a hearty dinner, and other entertainments, necessitating expenditures were indulged in by the boys, the police said. Then, after they had gone to the foothills east of the city and fired all the cartridges which they had purchased, they were arrested.

B. H. ROBERTS RAPS SMOOT

Hecklers Hurl Questions at Democratic Campaigner at Orpheum Talk

"Why are any of you opposed to the league of nations? What has come over you? Maybe you don't know. I can tell you. It is because the league has become a party issue and you are better persons than you are humanitarians."

This and a score of other verbal jabs moved a large audience to cheers and applause when Brigham H. Roberts, former chaplain of the 15th field artillery, delivered an address at the Orpheum theatre last night on the league of nations.

Throughout his entire discourse only once did Mr. Roberts refer to any candidate other than the presidential candidates. In this connection he charged Senator Reed Smoot, rather than the Democratic party, with being individually responsible for dragging the Mormon church into politics on the league issue.

TWO INDICTMENTS.

In this connection he set out to convict Senator Smoot on two indictments. The first indictment, he said, contained the charge that on August 22, 1919, the Utah senator gave an interview to the Universal Press service declaring that the doctrines of the Mormon church were in opposition to the league of nations.

Under flaring headlines and for about two and one-half columns in length our theologian set forth that our scriptures were against the league of nations. "I'd like to know if that isn't the act which changed the Latter-day Saints' authorities into politicians and he did it."

In reply to this interview and on December 22, President Taft, he said, Grant said, "The position of the church is that the standard works do not stand in opposition to the league of nations and this is to correct Reed Smoot's charge of impiety." Roberts said that the church had changed their minds on the league of nations, after which he read the fourth paragraph of the first presidency's Christmas message, omitting the first three paragraphs.

"What does that present?" continued Mr. Roberts. "Not direct but by innuendo does it not imply that the church authorities had changed their minds? But I think the senator's attention was directed to the mistake, in fact I called his attention to it. Any way, he made a statement at Ogden a few days ago, which was reported something like this: 'I had no intention of including members of the first presidency among the millions who have changed their minds with regard to the league of nations.'"

"Well, why in thunder didn't he say so the first time he made the statement?" shouted the speaker. Chaplain Roberts resumed the subject of Senator Smoot's attack by reading the three paragraphs of the Christmas message which he charged that the church had repudiated.

These paragraphs include the statement: "The approaching unity of nations, which must come in spite of threatening obstacles, animates the vast majority of mankind, and it is the fraternalization of whom contending powers and the substitution of friendly arbitration for the settlement of international quarrels, the prevention of armed conflict and detestable bloodshed."

LEAGUE DISCUSSED.

Other than his reference to Senator Smoot, the discourse was devoted to an entire discourse to a discussion of the principles involved in the league of nations, the actual meaning of the various sections of the covenant and to the sacrifices made by the United States and other allied nations.

Briefly, these were some of his points:

"If the Republicans think that the statements of European nations are going to tear up the league covenant and listen to such men as Harding, they are mistaken. It's going to be the league. And it isn't a Wilson league, either. We are not so crazy as to attribute to Wilson the vision of the league."

"Isiah, you remember, gives us one of the first visions of the league in his prophecy and you know his prophecy for I've preached it to you time and again. You people in this state and in the surrounding states to Utah have been taught and have considered yourselves factors in Isiah's vision."

"In the name of God what has come over you to give up the teachings of your religion to run after the shadows of Republican propaganda?"

"He quoted portions of the war poem, 'In Flanders Field.' At its conclusion, he said:

"You withdraw from the league and I tell you as coming from one who has smelled the battlefields of France that you will betray the blood of the 11,000 men who paid the supreme sacrifice for I've preached it to you time and again. You people in this state and in the surrounding states to Utah have been taught and have considered yourselves factors in Isiah's vision."

"In the name of God what has come over you to give up the teachings of your religion to run after the shadows of Republican propaganda?"

"He quoted portions of the war poem, 'In Flanders Field.' At its conclusion, he said:

"You withdraw from the league and I tell you as coming from one who has smelled the battlefields of France that you will betray the blood of the 11,000 men who paid the supreme sacrifice for I've preached it to you time and again. You people in this state and in the surrounding states to Utah have been taught and have considered yourselves factors in Isiah's vision."

"What does that present?" continued Mr. Roberts. "Not direct but by innuendo does it not imply that the church authorities had changed their minds? But I think the senator's attention was directed to the mistake, in fact I called his attention to it. Any way, he made a statement at Ogden a few days ago, which was reported something like this: 'I had no intention of including members of the first presidency among the millions who have changed their minds with regard to the league of nations.'"

"Well, why in thunder didn't he say so the first time he made the statement?" shouted the speaker. Chaplain Roberts resumed the subject of Senator Smoot's attack by reading the three paragraphs of the Christmas message which he charged that the church had repudiated.

These paragraphs include the statement: "The approaching unity of nations, which must come in spite of threatening obstacles, animates the vast majority of mankind, and it is the fraternalization of whom contending powers and the substitution of friendly arbitration for the settlement of international quarrels, the prevention of armed conflict and detestable bloodshed."

LEAGUE DISCUSSED.

Other than his reference to Senator Smoot, the discourse was devoted to an entire discourse to a discussion of the principles involved in the league of nations, the actual meaning of the various sections of the covenant and to the sacrifices made by the United States and other allied nations.

Briefly, these were some of his points:

"If the Republicans think that the statements of European nations are going to tear up the league covenant and listen to such men as Harding, they are mistaken. It's going to be the league. And it isn't a Wilson league, either. We are not so crazy as to attribute to Wilson the vision of the league."

"Isiah, you remember, gives us one of the first visions of the league in his prophecy and you know his prophecy for I've preached it to you time and again. You people in this state and in the surrounding states to Utah have been taught and have considered yourselves factors in Isiah's vision."

"In the name of God what has come over you to give up the teachings of your religion to run after the shadows of Republican propaganda?"

"He quoted portions of the war poem, 'In Flanders Field.' At its conclusion, he said:

"You withdraw from the league and I tell you as coming from one who has smelled the battlefields of France that you will betray the blood of the 11,000 men who paid the supreme sacrifice for I've preached it to you time and again. You people in this state and in the surrounding states to Utah have been taught and have considered yourselves factors in Isiah's vision."

ORPHEUM WEDNESDAY

ANITA STEWART —in— "HARRIET AND THE PIPER" A Story of Free Love—That Searched; True Love That Endured.

SHOE SPECIALS

MEN'S WORK SHOES

Excellent Values

$4.45

Also extra heavy tops with full double soles

$5.45

Boys' English and Round Toe—

Finest welt shoes made

9 to 13½ ..... $4.95

1 to 2 ..... $5.45

2½ to 6 ..... $5.95

BOYS' AND GIRLS' SCHOOL SHOES

Short lines, values up to $5.00

5 to 8 ..... $2.95

8½ to 11 ..... $3.45

11½ to 2 ..... $3.95

Our best grades.

BABY'S SHOES

Sizes 2 to 8

$1.95

Boys' English and Round Toe—

Splendid School Shoes

9 to 13½ ..... $3.95

1 to 2 ..... $4.45

2½ to 6 ..... $4.95

MEN'S DRESS SHOES

Tan Calf Blucher, medium toe

$7.95

Also tan and black, English toe

$8.95

SHORT LINES

Patent vamp, lace, with black suede quarter; also black kid lace, leather Louis heel; $14.00 values

$10.95

H. W. JONES SHOE CO.
2461 Washington Ave.
SHOES FOR MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Butler Damage Suit Trial Is Continued

The case of William H. Butler, administrator for the estate of Ormand H. Butler, who is suing the Oregon Short Line railroad for damages totaling $30,500 for the death of Ormand Butler and destruction of his automobile when a train hit the car at the Twelfth street crossing in April, 1919, was resumed this morning in Judge A. E. Pratt's division of the district court. The case is being heard before a jury.

Three days were consumed last week in taking testimony in the case and it is believed that another day will be needed before placing in the hands of the jury.

This Trapper Sets Record for Week

James Wheeler, formerly a government trapper of the United States biological survey, recently established what is thought to be a record for one week's trapping. He caught twenty coyotes, four bob cats and a mountain lion. The catch was made in what is known as the "Well Draw" country, just south of the boundary of the Uinta forest.

Salt Lake Lodge Man Is Guest of Mayor

H. S. McCann, secretary of the Eagles' lodge in Salt Lake, was an Ogden visitor today. He called upon Mayor Frank Francis, who is secretary of the Ogden Eagles lodge, and conferred on business matters pertaining to the organization. Mr. McCann was the guest of Mayor Francis at dinner at noon.

J. Alex Bevan Will Speak Here on Friday

One of the speakers to take part in the Socialist rally scheduled for Friday evening at the city hall will be J. Alex Bevan of Toledo, who is the candidate for the U. S. senate. Mr. Bevan in his effort to displace the senator has the support of not only the Socialists, but also of the Farmer-Labor party, his candidacy having been endorsed by the latter party.

$100 Given Free!

To the four best fox trot dancers who win the six weeks' contest at the Berthana, beginning tomorrow night. The prize first will be $50.—Adv.

BIG SALE

Extra Pants Free With Every Tailor-made Suit

Special at

$36

A pair of pants free with every overcoat at $40.

All new fall patterns to select from. If you buy a tailor-made suit buy it from a business that deals exclusively in men's tailor-made suits. We are exclusive tailors for men. This sale is only for a limited time. You had better order your suit or overcoat now and get an extra pair of pants free with both your suit and overcoat.

Scotch WOOLEN MILLS

2309 Washington Ave.
Howard Williams, Mgr.